TRUEcolor

The real color experience

Our COROB TRUEcolor software simplifies and speeds up tinting operations, helping you improve your paint business. Packed with intelligent functions, it enables you to breeze through the dispensing process.

The intuitive user interface facilitates the process, ensuring that you get the exact color you desire. This way your staff can focus on providing top-notch service, increasing customer satisfaction and offering a true color experience.

With just a few clicks, you can select any color you want - even in random order - and send the Tint command to our machine. It's that simple!

With automatic updates from the COROB Cloud platform, the tinting system database stays up to date and accurate.

Tinting and sales data are easily accessible for statistics and analysis, giving you valuable insights into your business. Compatible with all our automatic dispensers, TRUEcolor is a Windows-based software that offers a versatile, complete and powerful solution for your tinting needs.

COROB Cloud

Empowering your business with our seamless digital ecosystem

No matter where your stores are located or what devices they use, you can easily keep all your business data up to date: products, colors, formulas, and prices. With our software, you don't have to worry about manually uploading data to and from each store. All the latest tinting formulas and sales data are automatically synchronized and uploaded to the COROB Cloud, ensuring consistency across all POS and customer satisfaction.

Our software enables you to collect and analyze data, empowering you to make informed decisions for your business, predict future demand and optimize production processes. By tracking the popularity of colors and products, you can shape tailored marketing strategies that lead to increased sales and customer satisfaction.

In addition, our software provides detailed metrics on sales volume and customer feedback, allowing you to identify areas for improvement.
